

Business for Peace Collaborative:

A Panel Discussion

USIP Public Education for Peace Building Support Program

Moderator: Ann Fisher, NPR, WOSU

Join the discussion on how economic development and business affect peace, and how peace building and end of conflicts impact regional development, rule of law and economic growth. Panelists include:

- Christopher Gelpi, Chair of Peace Studies and Conflict Resolution, The Ohio State University
- Yoram Haftel, Associate Professor of International Relations, Hebrew University in Jerusalem
- Patrice McMahon, Associate Professor of Political Science, University of Nebraska-Lincoln
- Mason Foster Ye, Undergraduate Student, Business Scholar of The Ohio State University

Tuesday, March 25

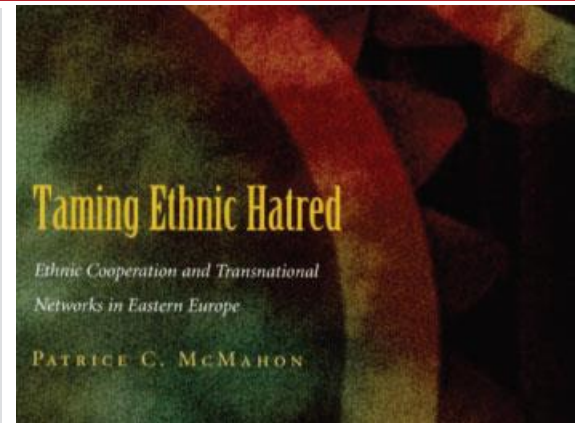

4:30 – 7 p.m.

Mershon Center for International Security Studies, 1501 Neil Ave.
Columbus, OH 43201

Register: go.osu.edu/businesspeace

Sponsored by:

Mershon Center for International Security Studies
Center for Slavic and East European Studies
Middle East Studies Center

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY